Retaining the old cinema's historic façade it will welcome a high quality mix of new homes, alongside a leisure district that showcases an exciting new destination for the capital. Filmworks' public and private spaces will create an authentic sense of place that is sensitive to Ealing's blend of historic and modern architecture, steeped in history and culture, interesting and hugely multicultural. Further local attractions include Ealing Studios (the world's oldest film studio), the Questors Theatre and Ealing Jazz Club, now The Red Room, where The Rolling Stones first met in 1962. The V&A Museum, British Museum, the West End, Theatreland and the South Bank are all also within easy reach from Ealing Broadway. Ealing's sense of place is about to change, at speed.
